Bicycle lessons for newcomers in NL
Angela van der Kloof

Cycling skills for newcomers should be included in policies:
“Stimulating cycling skills and bicycle ownership should be part of cycling policies in the bigger cities. This can be concluded from a study on the mobility of people living in older city neighborhoods.”

Source: Vogelvrije Fietsen

1995
National Action Plan:
- Make bikes available to children and lower income groups.
- The 32 largest municipalities join together (with the help of civil society organisations) to establish a working bicycle incentive for children, women, and the elderly to exchange experience and knowledge. Cooperation between the parties shall be established and cases developed. Effective bicycle promotion projects are compiled and coordinated nationwide.
- Professional development and development of bicycle lessons for people with an immigration background and the elderly.
- Encourage cities to provide cycling lessons to people with an immigration background and the elderly.

Source: Tour de Force / www.tourdeforce.nl
Cycling for Newcomers: building skills, knowledge and courage

Enabling people to cycle safely and with joy